

Researching Legal Futures:
Towards Transdisciplinary Perspectives
on Rights, Technology, and Global Change

Editors:

Ana CAMPINA

Activity

Dr. iur. Ana Cláudia Carvalho Campina (PhD in Law, PhD in Human Rights) is an Assistant Professor at the Faculty of Human Social Sciences at Fernando Pessoa University (UFP), Porto, Portugal. She completed her undergraduate degree in Political Science and International Relations, advanced specialized studies in Contemporary History at the University of Salamanca, and held various high-ranking academic and professional certifications. She earned her European PhD in Human Rights with distinction (Apto Cum Laude) from the University of Salamanca, receiving the prestigious Extraordinary Doctorate Award (Prémio Extraordinário de Doctorado). She subsequently earned a second PhD in Law ("Rule of Law and Global Governance") with highest honors (Apto Cum Laude) from the University of Salamanca. Over her career, her academic work has been recognized globally, earning awards such as the IKSAD Outstanding Scientist Award (2022) and the Jean Monnet Module Plaque from the European Commission (2026). She serves as an Expert Evaluator for the European Research Executive Agency (REA) under Horizon Europe (MSCA Doctoral Networks 2025) and as an External Expert and Rapporteur for the COST - European Cooperation of Science & Technology framework. At UFP, she acts as the Coordinator of the Jean Monnet Module "European Union's political statement on Human Rights in the age of Artificial Intelligence", Coordinator of the 1st Cycle in Political Science and International Relations, and Coordinator of the Postdoctoral Program "Human Rights in the Digital Age". Dr. Campina is an Integrated Research Fellow at the JusGov Research Center (Justice and Governance) at the University of Minho School of Law and an Associate Researcher at CEPESE (Centre for the Study of Population, Economy and Society). She holds memberships and affiliations with multiple international scientific institutions, including the Open Council of Europe Academic Networks (OCEAN-COE), the High Commission of the IKSAD Institute, CIGG (Universidad de Salamanca), and the Portuguese Political Science Association (APCP). Additionally, she serves as Editor-in-Chief of the International Journal of New Trends in Social Sciences (IJSS), Editorial Advisory Board Member for ADJURIS International Academic Publisher, and Co-Topic Editor for Frontiers in Political Science. She is fluent in Portuguese, English, French, and Spanish.

Research Projects and Publications

Her research centers on international law, human rights, global governance, artificial intelligence, and international security. She has led and participated in numerous competitive national and international research projects, including the Jean Monnet Module EUPOLISHURAAI funded by the European Commission and multi-institutional initiatives on constitutional fragmentation and digital futures. She is the author or co-author of numerous academic books, book chapters, and journal articles. Select publications include: A. Campina (2023). Controlo e Integração dos Migrantes e a sua Influência na Criminalidade Internacional Organizada (Salamanca: Universidad de Salamanca); A. Campina (2013). António de Oliveira Salazar - discurso político e "retórica" dos direitos humanos (Salamanca: Ediciones Universidad de Salamanca); C. Rodrigues, A. Campina (2025). La OIT como instrumento de gobernanza mundial: el caso de los bajos salarios en Portugal. In P. Nevado-Batalla Moreno & E. Arroyo Cisneros (Eds.), Paradigmas y desafíos de la gobernanza pública en Iberoamérica (Tirant Lo Blanch); A. Campina, C. Rodrigues (2024). Criminalité organisée internationale, démocratie et sécurité. In Le droit international en transition (Paris: L'Harmattan); C. Rodrigues, A. Campina, "Artificial Intelligence Is a New Human Rights Generation?", Perspectives of Law and Public Administration, 14 (4), 2025; A. Campina, C. Rodrigues, "Migrant Trafficking Networks. Where Is the Human Ethics?", Perspectives of Law and Public Administration, 14 (3), 2025; A. Campina, C. Rodrigues, "The Economic/Business Importance of Franchising in Portugal (Re)Analysis of the Franchising Contract", Perspectives of Law and Public Administration, 13 (3), 2024; A. Campina, C. Rodrigues (2023). "Transnational Organized Crime: the required Interconnection of States in their international Environment", Etica si Deontologie, 3 (1); A. Campina, C. Rodrigues (2021). "The politicization of human rights in the universal pandemic 2020: The relationship between the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union and the international tax law", Juridical Tribune, 11 (1); A. Campina, M. M. Silva Magalhães (2019). "Social economy in the international scenery: politic(s), culture(s) and power(s)/pressure(s) manipulation", New Trends and Issues Proceedings on Humanities and Social Sciences, 6 (3).

Paulo DE BRITO

Activity

Paulo de Brito is Associate Professor of Law at Universidade Lusófona, Centro Universitário do Porto (www.ulusofona.pt). From December 2014 until July 2018, he was the Dean of the Law School at this university while also lecturing International Law at graduate and ADR (Alternative Dispute Resolution) at postgraduate levels (Master's degree in corporate legal studies). He holds a post-doctorate in Public Law from the Universidad Santiago de Compostela, a Ph.D. in International Law from the University of Bristol (Faculty of Social Sciences and Law), UK, a J.D. from Universidade Católica Portuguesa, a B.B.A. from the Helsinki School of Economics and a M.A. in International Relations. He is also judge arbitrator at an Insurance Arbitration Tribunal, and Observer at the Working Group on mediation of the European Commission for the Efficiency of Justice (Council of Europe). Prior to being a full-time academic, he was a Small Claims judge for nearly six years. Before that he was a probation officer with the Portuguese Ministry of Justice for eight years. Besides those at domestic level, he made several other presentations abroad, namely at the Palace of Justice in Turin (2006), KIMEP University (Kazakhstan Institute of Management, Economics and Strategic Research) in Almaty, Kazakhstan (2011), KTH (Kungliga Tekniska Högskolan) in Stockholm (2012), Queen's University in Belfast (2013), University of Sussex, UK (2014), Universidad Santiago de Compostela (April 2019), Université du Luxembourg (July 2019), Universidad Rey Juan Carlos, Madrid (December 2019).

Publications

Paulo de Brito's publications constitute a wide-ranging contribution to public international law, legal philosophy, human rights, access to justice, alternative dispute resolution, and international criminal law. His early writings explore the theoretical foundations of the international legal order, as illustrated by Towards a Natural Law Theory of International Law and Sobre a importância de construir uma teoria do Direito Internacional em face do nacionalismo. The relationship between international law, nationalism, sovereignty, and cosmopolitanism remains a central theme of his scholarship, further developed in International Law and Nationalism as Two Essentially Related Concepts, Reflections on MacCormick's "Civic Conception of Nation," the Idea of a "World State" and Pogge's Cosmopolitan Approach, and Is Cosmopolitanism at Risk? Another important strand of his work concerns access to justice, mediation, arbitration, and restorative justice. His publications in this field examine the Portuguese Justices of the Peace, criminal mediation, and the protection of the right of access to a court under the European Convention on Human Rights. These studies include A Mediação nos Julgados de Paz Portugueses, An Introduction to Restorative Justice in Portugal, El derecho de acceso a la justicia, la mediación y el arbitraje en la Convención Europea de Derechos Humanos, and the three-part study Acesso à justiça: a mediação e a arbitragem na CEDH. His more recent publications address pressing developments in international relations and global governance, including armed conflicts in the Middle East, international investment law, trade measures, and the jurisdiction of the International Criminal Court. Representative works include International Law: On the Edge of a Dream? Reflections on the Middle East Wars, Reflections on the Legality of Trump's Tariffs from an International Investment Law Perspective, and the Springer book chapter The International Criminal Court and Rodrigo Duterte: An Illegal Arrest? In addition to his journal articles and chapters in collective volumes, Paulo de Brito has contributed to the editing of several international conference volumes, particularly within the FutureLaw series.